2. FYI

10 reasons why you should support your local music scene
by Michael Waters

Is there a name for the feeling you get when you hear a favorite song for the first time? Seriously, I'd love to know. It's one of my favorite feelings-getting lost in the notes, not knowing what comes next, but feeling the song pull on you, and work its way through you and back out, leaving a bit of itself there, forever. It may sound flowery, but I don't care. I love the way that feels.

I absolutely love live music. I love seeing national acts as well as local ones. I love learning about music, and seeing the way notes can be arranged in ways no one has ever thought of, before (you'd think we'd run out of ways to arrange notes). We're so lucky to be a part of a community that has so many options for music lovers, and I think we could help our community to grow even stronger if we supported them, all-out.

4. Reviews

A. I thoroughly enjoyed ON THE BASIS OF SEX, a biopic about Ruth Bader Ginsburg as she was beginning her career. The focus is on a groundbreaking case that went before the U.S. Court of Appeals and overturned a century of gender discrimination. Felicity Jones was terrific as Ginsburg, and I also liked the work of Armie Hammer as her husband. This is a film that you'll definitely enjoy. Rated PG-13.

Note: I'm adding the above to my list of favorite films. The documentary about Ginsburg's life, is already on the list. If you'd like to see the other films on it, please send an email to: bjginc@aol.com and put FAVORITES in the subject line.

B. I recently had a blast on Travis Kelley's SHINEBOX show, along with Jason Williams and Patrick Ian Hackney. We discussed the worst films of 2018. To see the show, please click: Here

C. Heard COACH WOODEN AND ME: OUR 50-YEAR FRIENDSHIP ON AND OFF THE COURT (Hachette Audio), written and read by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. This true story is about how Abdul-Jabbar, then Lew Alcindor, met a conservative Midwestern coach and how they became lifelong friends. I found it very interesting and think even those who aren't basketball fans will also. The book made me respect both men even more than I had previously.

8. Technology tip

Avoid paying extra for 4G on your laptop or tablet by enabling the hotspot on your smartphone.

Clearly, phone companies will charge you for as many things as they can get away with. Avoid the $10 or $20 per month fee to include your laptop or tablet on your data plan by using your smartphone as a hotspot and connecting your other devices via Wi-Fi. If you're not on a data plan that includes a hotspot feature, use free software like Fox.FI (available in Google Play for Android) to connect your devices.

9. Joke 3

Ed and Sam were playing golf, but were getting frustrated because two women in front of them were quite slow and holding up their game. "Don't they know they're supposed to let us play through?" Ed asked. ... "I guess not," Sam replied. ... "Enough is enough," Ed said. "I'm going to go ask them if we can pass them." He started walking toward the women, but suddenly turned around and came back. He turned to his friend. "This is awful. You're going to have to ask them!" ... "Why?" Sam asked. ... "One of is my wife, and the other is my mistress!" Ed answered. ... "No sweat," Sam said. But just as he was getting close, he also turned around and came back. When Ed asked him what happened, Sam replied, "It's a small world."

11. Thought for the day

As I've aged, I've become kinder to myself, and less critical of myself. I've become my own friend.

I have seen too many dear friends leave this world, too soon; before they understood the great freedom that comes with aging.
