1. Reflections

Please excuse the fact that some sections are missing this week due to space constraints. Look for them to return next week.

Also, if you're reading this via Facebook or LinkedIn, please be advised that you will get it quicker if you get it via email. Another advantage: You'll never miss it that way because you may not have logged in for a day or two. And in the unlikely event you're not already a subscriber, all you need to do is send an email to: bjinbc@aol.com and put SUBSCRIPTION in the subject line.

A. Cynthia, my beautiful bride, and I:

6. A quote I like

"I always believed that I could maybe come back and do it again. And if you believe, you can go really, really far in your life, and I did that. And I'm happy I kept on believing and dreaming and here I am today for the eighth. It's fantastic."--Roger Federer after he won his 8th Wimbledon title in 2017

7. Thought for the day

Imagine there is a bank account that credits your account each morning with $86,400. It carries over no balance from day to day.

Every evening the bank deletes whatever part of the balance you failed to use during the day. What would you do? Draw out every cent, of course.

Each of us has such a bank. It's name is TIME. Every morning, it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it writes off as lost, whatever of this you have failed to invest to a good purpose.

It carries over no balance. It allows no overdraft. Each day it opens a new account for you. Each night it burns the remains of the day.

If you fail to use the day's deposits, the loss is yours. There is no drawing against "tomorrow." You must live in the present on today's deposits.

Invest it so as to get from it the utmost in health, happiness and success.

The clock is running. Make the most of today!
