1. Reflections

If you're reading this via Facebook or LinkedIn, please be advised that you will get it quicker if you get it via email. Another advantage: You'll never miss it that way because you may not have logged in for a day or two. And in the unlikely event you're not already a subscriber, all you need to do is send an email to: bginbc@aol.com and put SUBSCRIPTION in the subject line.

A. Cynthia, my beautiful bride, and I:

(1) Found a new place that we really liked for a quick, tasty meal: Chicken Salad Chick. We liked both the chicken salad and the accompanying grape salad, along with the friendly service we received from Rachel Brelsford and the rest of the staff.

(2) Returned, as we often do, for a fine meal at Stone Ridge Tavern. Our server, Tabitha, was most accommodating.

B. WPVM/FM invites you to listen to the BLAINESWORLD show from Wed., November 15, 2017. ... Guest (first half): Boomer Sassmann, Internet Consultant; for more information: Here... Guest (second half): Nelson Sartoris, Poet & Author of BRAIN SLIVERS; for more information: nelsonsartoris@charter.net. ... C. I was fortunate to be able to catch two terrific shows recently.

(1) OTHELLO, the magnificent joint production of Montford Park Players and Different Strokes! That's me, third from the right, along with many of those who were so fine in the show, I-r: Sonia D'Andrea, Phillippe Andre Coquet, Stephanie Hickling-Beckman, Jason Williams, Daniel Henry and Jon Stockdale. Not pictured, but also excellent were Trinity Smith-Keel, Ian Patrick Mendes, Devyn Ray and John Preston Mendnhall. Kudos, also, to Scott Keel for his spot-on direction, Nathan Singer for his work as stage manager, Kristi DeVille for being the movement director and Victoria Smith for both costumes and makeup design.

D. Look for me (pictured with the very talented Connie Hurst) in a small part in Andrew Shearer's GIVE AND TAKE, a hilarious film that will hopefully be released in the near future. For more information, please click:

***** BLAINESWORLD BEST AWARD *****

This week, it goes Dave and Judy Blumlo--our dear friends who passed away recently. ... They were among the first folks we met when we moved to Asheville, and over the years, we had many fun times with them. In particular, we always enjoyed hearing about their 73 year love story. ... Pictured (left) is them at one of our parties and (right) are their hands cast together. For an obituary, as well as for information on how to make a contribution in their honor, please click:

2. FYI

Why You Should Hang Up Immediately When You Get a Robocall
by Alan Henry

In the past, you could press pound to escape Robocall hell, but that's not so much the case anymore. These days robocalls are like spam: If you press anything, even the number they say you should press to be removed from the list, you'll get more calls. The solution? Hang up immediately.

If you're like me, you probably just don't answer the phone at all unless you recognize the number (if it's important, they'll leave a message, right?) but if you're hoping for a call back from a potential employer or a company you've recently called, you may be more likely to pick up the phone anyway. Well, The Consumerist reports that even robocalls that pretend to give you an opt-out ("Press 1 to speak to a customer service rep, press 2 to be removed from our list") may sound nice, but it's not a good idea.

3. Joke 1

To paraphrase the words of fight manager Joe Jacobs: "I wuz robbed." Jacobs actually said, "We wuz robbed" when Max Schmeling, his client, had clearly outboxed Jack Sharkey--only to have the heavyweight title awarded to Sharkey.

4. Reviews

A. Saw WONDER, a heartwarming drama about a boy born with facial differences that kept him home schooled until he entered the fifth grade. Then, as everybody struggles to find their acceptance of him, he becomes the most unlikely of heroes. Jacob Tremblay is outstanding in the leading role, and I also liked the performances of both Owen Wilson and Julia Roberts as his parents. Rated PG.

B. Heard CREATIVITY, INC: OVERCOMING THE UNSEEN FORCES THAT STAND IN THE WAY OF TRUE INSPIRATION (Random House Audio), written by Ed Catmull with Amy Wallace and narrated by Peter Altschuler. It is the fascinating tale of how the author and his colleagues helped Pixar dominate the world of animation, producing such beloved films as the TOY STORY trilogy, INSIDE OUT, FINDING NEMO and a whole host of others. ... My favorite part of the book was at the end. It is here that there's a great summary, entitled "Thoughts for Managing a Creative Culture."

Among the 20+ ideas were these that I thought could work in virtually any situation were the following:

- * Give a good idea to a mediocre team, and they will screw it up. Give a mediocre idea to a great team, and they will either fix it or come up with something better. If you get the team right, chances are that they'll get the ideas right.
- * When looking to hire people, give their potential to grow more weight than their current skill level. What they will be capable of tomorrow is more important than what they can do today.
- * Always try to hire people who are smarter than you. Always take a chance on better even if it seems like a potential threat.
- * Excellence, quality and good should be earned words attributed by others to us, not proclaimed by us about ourselves.

8. Technology tip

A New Phone Comes Out. Yours Slows Down. A Conspiracy? No.
by Brian X. Chen

It happens every year: Apple releases new iPhones, and then hordes of people groan about their older iPhones slowing to a crawl.

Just look at the recent data. Between September and early November - when Apple made the iPhone 8 available, followed by the iPhone X - Google searches for the keywords "iPhone slow" jumped about 50 percent.

9. Joke 3

Barbara Walters once did a story on 20/20 about the oppressive treatment of women in Afghanistan. She noted that they walked five paces behind their husbands. ... She recently returned to see if things had improved and observed that women still walked behind their husbands. Despite the overthrow of the oppressive Taliban regime, the women actually seemed happy to maintain the old custom. ... Ms. Walters approached one of the Afghani women and asked, "Why do you now seem joyous with a practice that you once tried so desperately to change?" ... The woman looked Ms Walters straight in her face and without hesitation said, "Land mines." (Thanks, Dan Becker, for sharing.)

11. Thought for the day

Golding, best known for LORD OF THE FLIES, did actually say this ... or at least the first sentence. For more information, please click: Here. (Thanks, Janeen Ravkin, for sharing.)

William Golding
British Novelist, Playwright & Poet
1911 --1993

I think women are foolish to pretend they are equal to men. They are far superior and always have been. Whatever you give a woman, she will make greater. If you give her sperm, she will give you a baby. If you give her a house, she will give you a home. If you give her groceries, she will give you a meal. If you give her a smile, she will give you her heart. She multiplies and enlarges what is given to her. So, if you give her any crap, be ready to receive a ton of shit!
